Dear Ms. Him:

In a very special place in today's world, the objectives of service, high ethical standards in business and professions, dignity, personal responsibility for service in our personal, business, and community lives, and the advancement of international understanding, goodwill, and peace have a singularity. That place is Rotary.

Your remarks at this week's meeting of the Rotary Club of Washington, DC inspired Rotarians and guests alike in the room to renew their commitment to these goals and provided important insights on the broader community around us. Thank you for taking the time to add to our understanding.

Our Club is committed to service and to principled partnership. I hope that you will keep that in mind as you move ahead in your own endeavors. Please do not hesitate to contact us if circumstances arise in the future which might enhance both -- service and partnership.

In the interim, we wish you well in your own labors, complimenting you for your own pursuit of well-intentioned dialogue. Please consider returning to the Club as a guest for a weekly meeting, and once again, thank you for your participation.

Sincerely,
